

The Presents

If you let the birthday child open their presents before the party, they may decide that a certain present is much more interesting than the party. This is especially bad with boys, to avoid this and to help keep track of who gives what, and to avoid bits getting lost have a big bag or box handy to put the all the presents in. They can then be opened safely at home after the party.