

Toys, Balloons and Noise makers

Please do not distribute, toys, squeakers, whistles, Party Poppers or Balloons etc, before or during the party, It only takes one or two noisy restless characters to spoil the enjoyment of the majority, Save them for the party bags.

WARNING PARTY POPPERS ARE DANGEROUS!

I've seen a few children get hurt when a popper is set off in their face at the table. I'd recommend you don't have them at the party unless the children are supervised at all times when setting them off.

Please clear any toys away before the party and avoid covering the floor in loose balloons, The children will lose total interest in any organised entertainment if there are balloons or toys laying around.

If any toddlers stay at the party, ask their parents not to give them balloons from the wall to play with, not only are balloons dangerous for toddlers and babies, ( They bite them, they burst and they can choke on the bits of balloon) But the resultant BANG will distract the other children from the show.
